

Thursday 10th June 2021

Writing a soliloquy

Soliloquy =

When a character talks to himself and reveals his thoughts.

Here is an example of a soliloquy

Soliloquy

Alone on stage Homer Simpson is trying to decide whether to have that last doughnut...

HOMER:

To eat or not to eat?
That is the question.
Whether it is better to suffer
The pains of outrageous hunger
Or to take armfuls of doughnuts
And, while drooling, eat them.
To eat? To drink? No more?
Doh! To drink Duff and by that
To say we end the thousand troubles
Mr Burns sends us.
To drink? To sleep? To dream?

Task – You are going to write a soliloquy as it would be spoken by the little boy (Little Freak).

- What would the boy want to say?
- What would he want people to know?
- In what way will he express his thoughts?