Look at the resource below, which shares more information about care homes.

Care home

A care home is a place that provides accommodation and care for people who may not be able to look after themselves.

Here is a room used for residents in a care home to sit. They might chat to others in the home, read, draw or watch television.

I work in a care home and help the residents with their daily lives. Some of the things I do include helping people wash and dress, providing any medication and helping with mealtimes. I also help with any social and physical activities and I chat and listen and provide friendship.
