It was Peter's birthday. Peter was eight. Peter opened all Peter's cards and presents. Peter's gran had sent Peter ten pounds! Peter knew exactly what Peter was going to buy.

Peter asked Peter's mum and dad to take Peter to the pet shop. Peter dragged mum and dad over to the alligator tank.

"Oh no!" mum and dad said, "Peter can't have an alligator for a pet. Peter can have a kitten instead."

Peter was so disappointed. Peter thought and thought about the alligator and how much Peter wanted the alligator.

Then Peter had an idea. Peter knew just what Peter was going to do to get the alligator.
